1. GENERAL DESCRIPTION

The aim of the Master's Program in Marketing Management, Strategic Communication specialisation, is to train the students and further develop their skills in the management of strategic marketing and communication, in a digital context. The Final Master Thesis allows the students to apply the knowledge gained as well as the skills and competences acquired during the different courses which comprise the master.

Students will work on their Final Master Thesis, in teams (up to 4 members), under the supervision of a lecturer. The Final Master Thesis must be presented to an academic committee (master thesis defence). This project is expected to be of a high academic quality, present original and rigorous research, and it must show that the candidates possess relevant knowledge, competence, and judgement, acquired along the master program. Students can choose one of the following options for their Final Master Thesis:

- Marketing Plan or Communication Plan
- Research Project

Each option will provide the students with different skills regarding the following issues: planning, analysis, thought processing, problem solving and decision making, as well as, skills related to interpretation, communication and assessment.

Hence, the students must be aware of the differences between the two options for their thesis in order to choose the one which is a better fit for their interests. Likewise, the choice of topic for the thesis, as well as the context, and methodology must be connected to the students' preferences.

2. OBJECTIVES

- To apply the knowledge gained and the skills acquired by the students after attending the courses which comprise the Master's Program in Marketing Management.
- To be able to apply the knowledge acquired by writing a marketing plan and/or communication plan based on a business opportunity or an already existing company or start-up.
- To be able to use communication tools and apply communication techniques according to the communication problem or opportunity faced, in the context of a company or organization.
- To find a research topic which can be deemed relevant in the marketing and communication area, providing findings and conclusions based on the knowledge acquired, and the thinking process carried out.

4. TEACHING AND LEARNING METHODOLOGY

Two teaching and learning methodologies are combined in this course – lectures and feedback. Lectures will focus on how to choose the type of thesis and the research topic, as well as on the process of writing a Final Master Thesis. The feedback sessions will provide guidance and will help the students to improve their work, monitoring the progress and correct approach and development of thesis, as well as including Q&A sessions.

5. ASSESSMENT

The assessment of the thesis will include the following aspects:

1. Positive contribution to class discussions. 5 % of the final grade. Individual grade.
2. Quality of the partial submissions. 15% of the final grade. Individual grade.
3. Quality of the final submission. 50 % of the final grade. Team grade.
4. Thesis defence to an academic committee. 30% of the final grade. Individual grade.

In order to proceed to the thesis defence, the students must have the approval of their supervisor.
